Example

When you're drunk and hungover
And you need to sleep in class
Nothin, nothin is in your brain
Close your eyes with head on desk
And soon you'll hear Jan Ice talk
To wake you up and give you work to do

You just do all your stuff
But in fact your brain doesn't work
"I didn't do it"
"I have many mistakes."
Gram-mar, lis-nin and wry-tin
Oh my God, what's wrong with my speakin?
All i want is just to sleep
So pleeze, Ja Nice
....and so on....
